

Move to Junk

by the White Horse Theatre

Today we had the opportunity to watch a play named "Move to Junk" performed by the White Horse Theatre. The Theme of it was cyberbullying.

The four actors played their roles very well and the feelings of the characters as well as the atmosphere were brought to us very well, too. I really loved the way they included the audience at some points. It captivated me right from the start until the very end and they never lost my attention.

Some scenes really surprised me even though I had known the story before. The end was really shocking because I have thought that it would be a happy ending. But maybe it's necessary to show the people how drastic cyberbullying can get if you don't do anything against it.

I even got a little upset when Donny said, he was doing that because "he was able to", even though I knew it was just a play.

Not everyone seemed to take this play seriously, because some pupils even laughed at the end. I think that was disrespectful!

But I think it's an amazing play and the atmosphere was great too. The actors were also great and I would definitely recommend to watch it.

Marie Häring, 9 B

Finsterwalde, 14.06.2019